Our friend Bob Varner is no longer connected with the Town of South Bay. He resigned town clerk, tax assessor, collector and all other official connections with the municipality at the regular meeting of the town council Tuesday night.

Bob is going to open a restaurant and barbecue stand now being completed, in connection with Russell Fisher's new bar. He has had a lot of experience in the restaurant business and he and his brother operate one now in Winter Haven. Bob says he is going to have real barbecue, yellow rice and beans, Spanish bean soup and other delicacies that are scarce in the Everglades.

This "shiner" I've been kidded about all the week didn't come from running into a tree. I haven't bewitched any curious friends with a long explanation of how I acquired the shiner. I've unhesitatingly admitted that it is the result of coming into violent contact with a shiner running right fast. But there is always something to be thankful for and things usually could have been worse. It is not entirely impossible to have two "shiners" at one and the same time. I'm not quoting any words from that, either. I know from experience. Anyway, if it is any satisfaction, I did give a receipt for one I have now, and then went hunting the next day with the fellow that hung it on me.

The railroad men were really hard to get along with Wednesday. They were accusing me on each other's shoulders and making feeble attempts to convince themselves I was not carrying this heavy load surrounding the "boot and leg" boys, who were accused of carrying the load themselves. Upon encountering this heavy load surrounding the "boot and leg" boys, who were accused of carrying the load themselves. Most of the duck hunters who descended on this section Sunday morning for the opening of the duck hunting season went home somewhat disappointed. There were enough hunters in the area between Six-mile bridge and Brown's Farms to pick a forty acre patch of beans in thirty minutes. Personally, our family had duck for Sunday night supper. There were four in the party and we brought back one nine pint which I was fortunate enough to catch. It was the only one in the party with a family small enough to make a good meal out of. As we sat down to our report I did some rapid mental calculation and figured roughly that the duck cost $58.75.

Although our new bank won't immediately be housed in the fine new building they are going to have for a permanent home the bank is going to be a reality. Continued on page 4

Sugarcane Production and Test Work at Experiment Station
Some ten years ago and continuing until a very recent date, the cane Co. had a test at the Cominatore Cane Station in India, was the first cane for early harvest in the Glades. This cane was, however, not matured for test until early December, but with an average 90 test sugar yield of about 180 pounds per acre of cane. Here our temperature and rainfall is more favorable to beginning of cane growth during March and April than in Louisiana, yet in that state harvest ripening is not until October. Some 30 days in advance of that in the Glades. This season of uneven rainfall, which appeared as one which must be remedied, and the cane was an out-crop of rain. The first indication that the cane was out to accomplish the task, the first indication that the cane was out to accomplish the task, the first indication that the cane was out to accomplish the task.

CLINIC FACILITIES
Available To All
Agricultural Help

Free Medicine and Hospitalization Also To Be Furnished

A recent ruling makes it possible for the Migratory Camp clinics to take care of all low income families who are engaged in agricultural work whether white or colored. Some 120 families have been taken care of at the clinic since this ruling became effective and they are now receiving care at the rate of 75 to 85 percent daily.

All agricultural labor desiring this service, if not residents of camp, may register and an eligibility card is made out and a survey made to ascertain whether the applicant is eligible for this service. They may then come to the clinic for examination and charge to the camp. Hospitalization will be provided if necessary.

Physician's mothers are especially urged to take advantage of this service and premarital care and things usually could have been worse. It is not entirely impossible to have two "shiners" at one and the same time. I'm not quoting any words from that, either. I know from experience. Anyway, if it is any satisfaction, I did give a receipt for one I have now, and then went hunting the next day with the fellow that hung it on me.

Fall Bean Crop Is Approaching Peak Movement

Only One 30-Car Day Is Recorded To Date

Peak shipments of the fall bean crop from the Everglades area is predicted for next week with increasing yield and much better quality beans than harvested at the opening of the season about two weeks ago.

The majority of the shipments so far have been by trucks and the heaviest single day has been approximately 20 cars. Due to unfavorable weather conditions the majority of the beans harvested were very poor quality and the yield per acre was far below average. The disappointing fall crop has been somewhat offset by the exceptionally high prices which have been paid for the beans.

Quality beans having brought as much as $3.65 per hamper. The price of the beans at the peak of the season was $2.40 to $2.50 per hamper. Although beans have been the fall crop, the majority of the beans harvested were very poor quality and the yield per acre was far below average.

Knitting Circle Of B&PW Records Many Hours Credit

A feature of the regular meeting of the Everglades Business and Professional Women's Club held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Mildred Morgan was the presentation of the Red Cross knitting circle sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Mildred Morgan in charge of distribution of wool and supplies and Mary Ball, instructor, the club hands out a certificate of standing merit during the period from January 7 to September 15. The girls have been completed, which required 2,381 hours of work. Mrs. Clara Green is in charge of the 150 hours to her credit. Others who earned service pins for 100 hours or more are Mrs. M. G. Evans, Mrs. C. M. Larkie, Mrs. Nell Seulen, Mrs. Mary Ball, Mrs. M. G. Evans, Mrs. C. M. Larkie, Mrs. Nell Seulen, Mrs. Mary Ball, Mrs. M. G. Evans, Mrs. C. M. A Gift On Armistice Day

As far as we know, there is no custom in America of giving gifts to one another on Armistice Day.

This year, however, the American people are presenting themselves with the finest gift anyone has ever given.

It seems to us that this gift to the living is the greatest possible memorial we can build to those who have given their lives in defense of our country.

To make our gift to ourselves is not all sugar and cream. There are some bitter pills conspicuously littered throughout the mixture.

But the gift as a whole is only more important because of the plums. After all, shrewd men than Lindbergh and Wheeler and the American First Aid Unit have tried to leave America unity in times of stress—and the best proof of the strength of our Democracy is that it still survives.

Away back in 1776 we had a plum—just as bitter, just as noisy, as our present one. He wanted to be the big shot, but he was not. And when offered to lead a revolution, he refused. And for a while he fooled the people. He shouted so much that "some people really began to think he was being persecuted."

And in the midst of it, all the hero that had turned into a plum now turned traitor. He was caught, as most traitors eventually are, and only his perjury has lived throughout the years.

His name, of course, was Benedict Arnold.

Yes, America has had its share of bitter plums in the past and we will probably continue to have them in the future. But they won't stop us from doing what the majority of us feel is the right thing.

Nothing can stop us now—least of all the bitter plum of Hitler's orchards. This Armistice Day we see under a strike out at the tyrant who thought he'd so cleverly tricked us into disunity—this Armistice Day we see with our ranks formed and our guns loaded.

We have unity and we have strength.

There has been no better gift to ourselves since the birth of America.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Hirsch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hirsch of Miami were Sunday visitors in Belle Glade as the guests of M. H. Hertz. The visitors were much impressed with the growth and attractiveness of Belle Glade since their original visit here more than a year ago.

SENIOR HOME

(Continued from page 1) rations will be set up in Palm Beaches, Lake Worth, Delray Beach, Boca Raton, Belle Glade and Palmetto. The county chairman of (1) Clothing Supply and Home Gardens is in the hands of Mrs. Edith V. Barnes and her home demonstration leaders. (2) Nutrition will be handled through the County Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Ties Bregger of Belle Glade, president. (4) Consumers Interest has been left to the League of Better Government.

Miss Holloway spoke on the topic of our part in the National Defense and brought out that increased production for home and abroad would take careful planning and coordination on the part of all agricultural agencies in order to succeed and that each of us must be prepared to fit ourselves and our program in to the larger one laid out by the planning agencies.

Past presidents reported on the activities and accomplishments of their respective clubs during the past year particularly in the line of national defense. Practically all clubs reported their membership actively engaged in Red Cross sewing and knitting, some in first aid and bandage making and others in increased number of garden and more careful conservation of the surplus food products. Mrs. Edith V. Barnes reported 375 cotton mattresses finished in Palm Beach county and approximately 200 quilts.

Mrs. Edith Iselman had on display a booth of articles made from home products which would be suitable for Christmas gifts. The new programs for the year were given out and explained. These programs have a number of suggested topics for each meeting and the local clubs adapt it to their own particular needs.

A letter was read from Mrs. W. H. Rawle, former council president, now residing in Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. Barnes announced the result of the club record book contest. Delray Beach and Boca Raton tied for first place; Palmetto and West Palm Beach tied for second place and Greenacres won third. The cash award will be divided among the five winning clubs. The three jars sent from Palm Beach county to the state "large jar cannot for quality" contest were on display. One quart of apple, one of ship green beans and one fried duck. They were named by Mrs. G. J. Barstow of South Bay. Results of the contest have not yet been announced. Twenty counties were in the contest. Next year the three jar contest will give way to a five jar contest in which the five best jars in the county regardless of the canner will be entered. The contest will take place in June at the State Senior Council meeting and one quart jar of each, meat, fruit, tomato, beans and one other acid vegetable will make up the entry.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon by the Greenacres Club, who were hostesses for the day. Tables had been laid in the rear room of the Greenacres Community church and decorations and favors carried out the Halloween motif. Mrs. Frank Allen and committee were in charge of arrangements.

A leadership training day for 4-H Club leaders will be held in the near future. A record book committee to work with the home demonstration agency was named by Mrs. Mina Holland, president, who presided through the day. They are: Mrs. G. J. Barstow of South Bay, Mrs. J. E. Erickson of Delray Beach and Mrs. J. I. Freedman of Belle Glade.

Attention was called to the fact that a new film has just been released starring Jane Withers which has for its central theme the 4-H Club work in the U. S. Some of the film was taken in Washington, D. C., during the 4-H Club camp there and other parts in California. It is reported that the Florida delegation to the Washington meeting appears in one scene.

Attention was also called to the fact that there has been passed a new rural housing act which makes it possible for those in rural areas to receive government loans in building similar to the loans now available for housing in cities. The county commissioners of Palm Beach county have acted favorably on this act.

South Bay-Lake Harbor
Bean City

Mrs. Laura Mathews and son, Donald, of Miami, visited Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Armstrong this week.

Bob Varner took Mrs. Varner to Avon Park on a visit with relatives and friends last week leaving here there while he returned.

Frank Faust has returned to Bean City for the winter season. Mrs. Field Warfield and Mrs. Helen Potter of the welfare and Red Cross agencies. This includes sewing, knitting, labeling, cutting, packing and bandage making. (2) Food Conservation and Home Gardens is in the hands of Mrs. Edith V. Barnes and her home demonstration leaders.

Robert Young of Galatin, Tenn., has taken employment on the Arthur Wells farm and is making his home with his sister and in-laws-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Garsett have moved from Bean City to Bare Beach Sugar Plantation.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bathelet of Philadelphia are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bathelet.

G. A. Perkins is ill at his home in Lake Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Minder of Miami enjoyed a day fishing on Lake Okechobee off Lake Harbor recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moore and son, Russell and Bill Moore, have moved from Lake Harbor to Sebring.

Mrs. Paul Bearden of Lake Harbor is recovering nicely from a recent operation at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Mrs. Neil Williamson of Lake Harbor spent the afternoon here with her sister, Mrs. Marie Hampton, recently.

Mrs. Paul Dillier and Mrs. Nello Greer and son, Carl, of Belle Glade, visited Mrs. Vivian Smith at Clewiston one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Abstein of Fort Pierce visited Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Allen last week.

Jack Warren has returned to work after a siege with the flu.

Marjorie Ellen and Warren Brown of Clewiston spent the afternoon with their grandmother, Mrs. C. J. Brown.

Mrs. Vivian Smith of Clewiston visited Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Abstein over the weekend recently.

Clarence Pate of Belle Glade and Mrs. W. C. Allen took Leo Haymans and Gene Stewart to Miami Sunday to leave for Norfolk, Va., to enter naval training.

Mrs. V. N. Greer and son, Vance and Carl, spent the week end in Miami with Mr. Greer who is engaged in construction work there.

Miss Elizabeth Hall, Miss Marie Hampton and Mrs. Neil Williamson of Lake Harbor spent Saturday in West Palm Beach with friends.

Mrs. D. H. Walker and family, Mrs. A. L. Byrd and family enjoyed a two family Halloween party Friday night.

THINGS THEY LEARNED

(Continued from page one) aside because it proved very susceptible to leaf disease, and being trashy was hard to clean at harvest. If this had not been the case, however, it could well be expected to exhibit this quality of early maturity when grown on the best soils of the area.

Following this lead constant attention has been given to this factor of early maturity in selecting seedlings for the area. Seedlings of the 1941 series yielded some very remarkable canes both as marked by earliness of maturity and adaptability as marked by tonnage produced when grown on the same percentage. F31-702, is there producing excellent tonnage through several stubble crops. This cane 702 makes wonderful growth on average soil, but on such it is a very poor sugar yielder. In North Florida on a majority of lowland soils the juice purity is such that when concentrated to 89 Brix sugar, such is just on the edge of "Sugaring Out." On high upland red soils in this northern locality the juice quality increases to such an extent that it becomes a good sugar producer. This performance, coupled with its extreme vigor has led one Louisiana planter to purchase and truck to Louisiana for planting purposes, some 35,000 stalks of this cane. This supply was grown on 1 1/4 acres and brought the farmer $350. Sirup production in this area, Greenacres, had reached a low level by 1935. Due to new cane varieties given them the production last year was 2500 barrels, which is estimated will reach 4,000 barrels for the present season.

At Fellsmere one may see nine Florida seedlings planted in blocks of 10 to 100 acres, giving enough cane in each case for a mill test. These for the most part are seedlings discarded as poor producers in the Glades, but because of the seeming superiority of the seedlings Louisiana planters have begun to come to our state for seed cane, which they are moving at considerable expense in the hope of better production in that state.

Thus it is that the sugarcane work while centered in the Glades reaches out to take care

EDITORIAL

By Jimmy Williams
Tuesday, November 11, will be celebrated all over the United States because, as you know, this will be Armistice Day. Just 23 years ago the long, four-year struggle of the first World War was ended.

Flags will be flown from every flag staff, and cemeteries where the dead of this country who helped to keep the torch of liberty burning were buried will be decorated with wreaths and small American flags.

Today the world is again engaged in a great war of even larger proportions than the last great war. Although our nation is not actively engaged in the war, there is always danger of such a thing happening. We are saving and conserving and helping other countries to carry on the fight against one of the strongest enemies the world has ever seen.

We are glad to be citizens of this great nation of freedom and democracy; so when Armistice Day rolls around, let us hang out our flag and show our appreciation to the country in which we live and the men who through the years have fought to protect and glorify it and to make it a place of which to be proud.

SIDEGLINTS FROM A "SECOND GUESSER"

"What was the matter with the Belle Glade team?" was the question that came to me from every side after Tuesday's game. And my answer in each case was "I don't know."

And it's the truth. I don't know. I don't know whether it was too much "Neck" and "Heck" or too little Belle Glade. Nor would I want to consult myself in attempting to try to say.

NINTH GRADE NEWS

The night before Halloween a party was given by two ninth and two eleventh grade members. We danced, ducked for apples, and some of the boys became suddenly shy during one of the games. About 9:30 the refreshments were served.

GOSSIP

J. D., that was a cute Sophomore girl enrolled—and is the cute? In case you want to know she lives in South Bay.

Wake up Inez—you and Charles L. would make a cute couple.

Cheer up Agnes, maybe you still have a chance with H. B.

We hear that Adolphus is very glad that Audrey is back.

Why was that new boy that was with Laura Friday night? They acted like dear old friends.

But the trouble was, Eudon didn't have enough help.

W. L. made a couple of nice touches. And of course Herbert Priest came across with a couple (as he always does) and I saw "Shorty" Shivers in there a few times.

But it was Eudon who was in there all the time. Of course he couldn't be every place at once. But the way he played he certainly acted as if he was trying to.

And that's what it takes to win football games. Say what you will, it is no "cream-puff" game. It's hot hard and get hot hard. And you have to have "soud in your crew" to stand it.

From someone we have the quotation, "It is not whether you win or lose, but it's how you play the game."

That does not mean it makes no difference whether you win or lose. The game should be played to win. But when one has played as well and as hard, and as clean, as Eudon did in that game and backed himself with such interest and such glory, then—win, lose or draw—he can truly be proud of his conduct in that game regardless of the outcome.

And we who sat on the sidelines can truly say we were proud of him. Every minute he was in there.

NINTH GRADE ASSEMBLY

The assembly for last week was held Thursday because the Belle Glade football team was scheduled to clash with Dania that night. The ninth grade had the assembly program; Coral King read the Bible and led the students in the Lord's Prayer and Pledge of Allegiance. Then Nellie Cunningham led in the singing of God Bless America. Dolly Rutledge playing the piano accompaniment. Jimmy McCauley, playing the cornet, and Dolly Rutledge, the piano gave their version of "Annapola". The audience demanded another election too; so Jimmie played the "Boogie Woogie Rag".

Dolly Rutledge and Lebron Williams then gave several amusing skits. Christine Taylor, Alice Risk, Hazel Altman and Dolly Rutledge led in the singing of football songs after which the cheerleaders and students cheered for the football team. Mr. Bartlett then told of the Halloween carnival to be held at the school Friday afternoon and night.

Jimmy McCauley, played by special request "Daddy," "Walking by the River" and "The Hot Hot Song." Students then returned to their classes.

On Tuesday night, October 4, Katherine McLeod was given a surprise birthday party at the home of Gloria Wells. Different games were played with refreshments on the side. Those attending were: Jack Whitlock, Carroll Warren, Benny Richmond, Billy Hill, W. L. Cunningham, Eudon Armstrong, Eugene Hatcher, Herbert Priest, Herbert Dubbin,

NOW IS THE TIME!

If you are considering any electrical appliance as a Christmas gift you should take steps now to have it put away from the stock we have on hand.

All electrical appliances are becoming harder and harder to get and the prices are increasing with every new shipment. This condition has been brought about by the National Defense program and by Christmas it may be impossible to obtain these commodities at all. While we still have most of the major appliances in stock why not pick out what you want for Christmas now?
